

Back to San Jose

Contributed by Keith Rhoades
Wednesday, 31 March 2004

Thursday we left Puerto Viejo for yet another hellish bus ride to San Jose. We arrived in San Jose and got a room by the central Mercado which Hanlan wanted because it was $4 a night. I told him I wanted to go my separate way for a while&hellip;so he went shopping and I went to the Cathedral, the Teatro, had coffee and went shopping. We met up for dinner again. I went to Avispa&hellip;a gay club and had a great time&hellip;I met Cecilio, Jaime, Ricardo, and Juan. I took a cab home about 12:30 and went to bed at 1 am. We woke up at 4 am and headed to the airport. What a fiasco&hellip;we had to pay a $26 departure tax and the flight to Phoenix was ok. But the flight there got cancelled so we had to wait 4 hours. Hanlan and I got home about 7 and Joe picked us up and we came home and did laundry and I got organized while Hanlan figured out his plans for tomorrow. We made waffles&hellip;and went to bed at midnight. So now it is Friday and it seems this trip went by so fast.